Full job description

Your new role

The purpose of this role is to assist the OHS Manager with promoting health and safety in the workplace to establish a good safety culture and to provide operational advice to meet legislative obligations and to ensure the safety and wellbeing of staff, associates, students, contractors and users of our services.

Other responsibilities include but limited too:

- Build positive working relationships, strengthen business partnering and ensure excellent internal customer service for OH&S and Workers Compensation activities across all business units of Council
- Assist with the coordination and continual improvement of OH&S systems and processes.
- Manage workers compensation as the Council's Return to Work Coordinator.
- Work across Council to identify and respond to OH&S hazards / risks and assist with the development and implementation of solutions.
- Work effectively to deliver OH&S strategies and projects.
- Coordinate the administration and maintenance of a range of OH&S databases, programs and performance data.

To be successful in this role

My client understands the importance of OHS within the workplace, and is looking for a collaborative, engaging candidate that has a genuine desire to prioritise safety within the workplace

What you'll get in return

This is fantastic opportunity for an experienced operator who is wanting to help grow and develop OHS strategies, processes and procedures. This role is initially a temporary role for 2-3 months with strong potential to go permanent.
