Full job description

?????The Role:

Following our years of success in QLD, VIC and SA, we are excited to be expanding into Tasmania and are looking for a part time Showroom Sales Consultant to assist with the opening of our first store in Hobart (Cambridge). Working as part of a great team you will assist with the set up of the new store as we continue to deliver tiling needs and expert product advice to our customers Australia wide.

You will work with our valued customers who are seeking professional expert advice on tailored solutions for their home or DIY projects. You will be working with a great team of people who are dedicated to continually improving efficiencies for the benefit of the company, its customers and, very importantly, its employees.

To be successful in this role you will:

- Have previous retail or sales experience
- Develop trust and deliver excellence in customer service through the entire customer service experience
- Maintain a high standard of store presentation and showroom displays that show our fashionable and functional products that create inspiring solutions
- Achieve personal and team sales targets
- Perform administrative duties including data input to ensure that follow up and service excellence is maintained
- Have strong attention to detail, be mature and responsible and have excellent communication skills.
- Have a "team player" attitude and a "can do" approach to problem solving
- Possess strong attention to detail and solid time management skills
- Be confident, well-groomed and have excellent interpersonal skills
- Qualifications in interior design will be viewed favourably but are not
