Full job description

Opportunity for an experienced Business Analyst to join an organization going through a large digital transformation

Role:

This is an opportunity for an experienced business analyst to act as the conduit between the business and technology stakeholder groups. You will be a key part of requirements gathering and technical process mapping activities whilst building excellent rapport and driving advocacy for technology across this organisation.

Organisation:

This company is a well known brand in Western Australia. Currently going through a transformation to bring technology to the forefront, it requires strong, hardworking and passionate individuals to continue to drive this journey.

Key Responsibilities:

- Facility requirement gathering exercises including workshops, interviews, networking and stakeholder engagement.
- Undertake process mapping and gap analysis.
- Ensure all documentation is accurate and current.
- Drive technology advocacy across multiple stakeholder groups.
- Understand strategic direction of the business and drive opportunities for efficiencies and improvement.
- Translate technical requirements into non-technical language.

Candidate Requirements:

In order to be successful in this role you will have the following

- Minimum 2 years experience working as a Business Analyst.
- Experience working on an Enterprise transformation or Technology transformation is highly regarded.

- Demonstrate excellent communication skills both written and verbal.
- Strong stakeholder engagement experience.
- Strong understanding of Agile.
- Relevant tertiary and professional certifications are highly regarded.

This is a contract requirement with the high likelihood of extension. All candidates with the relevant experience are encouraged to apply.
