PIPELINE

STRUCTURAL DRAFTER

Full job description

Large structural and civil specialist consultancy with a reputation for high employee engagement & low staff turnover. Career development & stability

The Company

Privately owned and with staff engagement and professional development at their core, this structural and civil specialist consultancy have an outstanding reputation in the market. Not only do they work on marquee projects, they deliver these in an environment that promotes growth, development and respect. They value their staff and this is reflected in the benefits that they offer and the regular team events that they hold.

The Role

Their workbook is full and they have a strong pipeline of work. As a result, they have the need for an experienced Structural Drafter to work on key projects across a range of building structures projects that cover all building types.

The Responsibilities

Working under and alongside influential and experienced industry professionals, you will take the lead on the delivery of key projects. You will utilise your experience to deliver efficient and high quality structural designs in conjunction with your engineers and the client. You will be the key decision maker for your projects and will be responsible for delegating tasks to other team members to ensure successful delivery.

The Requirements

You will be able to demonstrate:

- A high level of proficiency with Revit Structures
- A proven track record of successfully delivering a range of building structures projects within Australia
- The ability to be the lead drafter on projects and delegate work and manage deliverables effectively
- Full working rights in Australia
- Sponsorship / re-location assistance is not available for this role

This is an outstanding opportunity to work for a consultancy that value their employees and offer excellent professional development opportunities. Waste no time in applying today.
